

adult development aging john pdf

Adult development encompasses the changes that occur in biological and psychological domains of human life from the end of adolescence until the end of one's life. These changes may be gradual or rapid, and can reflect positive, negative, or no change from previous levels of functioning. Changes occur at the cellular level and are partially explained by biological theories of adult development ...

Ageing or aging (see spelling differences) is the process of becoming older. The term refers especially to human beings, many animals, and fungi, whereas for example bacteria, perennial plants and some simple animals are potentially immortal. In the broader sense, ageing can refer to single cells within an organism which have ceased dividing (cellular senescence) or to the population of a ...

Solon-Biet et al. look at whether health and aging are influenced by macronutrient balance or calorie intake in mice by investigating the effects of diets differing in protein, carbohydrate, and fat content. Diets low in protein and high in carbohydrates increase lifespan, while calorie restriction through high-protein diets does not extend life.
