Coverage Metrics Model Checking Chockler

coverage metrics for temporal logic model checking - the above coverage metrics for small portions of the design [bh99]. coverage metrics are helpful as an indicator whether the simulation process has been exhaustive. still, simulation-based verification techniques lack of a uniform definition of coverage. following the same considerations, analyzing coverage in model checking can dis-

a flexible framework for the estimation of coverage ... - the application of coverage metrics in model checking. section 5 presents some preced-ing work in the area of coverage metrics estimation for model checking as well as some other related works. finally, in section 6 we conclude giving some conclusions drawn from the experiences in this research.

2 the need for coverage metrics in model checking coverage metrics for formal verification - researchgate - clear what coverage should correspond to in formal verification, as in model checking all reachable parts of the design are visited. early work on coverage metrics in formal

chockler, kroening, purandare: computing mutation coverage ... - model checking, as model checking performs an exhaustive exploration of the state space of the system during which all parts of the design are exercised. in model checking, coverage metrics therefore serve a different purpose: they are used as an indicator for the completeness of the specification. a low-coverage metrics for formal verification - springer - coverage metrics for formal verification 113 clear what coverage should correspond to in formal verification, as in model checking all reachable parts of the design are visited. a practical approach to coverage in model checking - in this paper we study coverage metrics for model checking from a practical point of view. first, we consider specifications given as formulas in the linear temporal logic  $LTL$  or by automata on infinite words. these formalisms are use d in many model-checking tools (e.g., [hhk96,kur98]), and we suggest alternative definitions of cov-
